

The Conversations That Matter

You want teams who can conquer the world.
Your teams want leaders they love to follow.

We're the experts at developing both.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW:

BUILDING GREAT TEAMS

OVERVIEW:

The Building Great Teams program is designed to strengthen teams, help them understand how and why they work the way they do and how they can each influence, empower and adapt to be more effective as peers, managers and leaders. By first focusing on our own Communication Style, we build a cohesive team – one that can trust, collaborate and lean on each other to effectively build the business together.

The Building Great Teams program allows you to have the open, candid and strategic conversations that teams need to perform at the highest level. For a team to move to the next level, dedicated time together is required, a sense of freedom and creativity are desired, and the willingness to explore ideas together, all to allow for rich learning and development.

The key is to create a tight, singular team-approach to Team Development. We will focus on the Team Expectations at a behavioral level so each person understands both the rationale and the emotional reasoning built into human psychology and how we each think and behave, which is part of the overall experience and foundation in building more effective relationships at work.

Appropriately, at the center of this program are the Understanding Self and Others and How to Build Effective Working Relationships modules.
